

HILL IS THERE.

The Senator Opens Headquarters at Saratoga.

He is to be Temporary Chairman of the Convention.

MIGHT BE GOVERNOR.

But He Would Doubtless Decline the Nomination.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 25.—There is not a man versed in the ways of conventions of political parties that ever saw a scene like that which confronts the Democratic party today. The predicament is explained in a very few words by Lieutenant Governor Sheehan. He said: "There is not a man or politician here that knows who the nominee of the party will be until the convention meets. It is anybody or any faction candidate and the convention will be a Democratic one in every sense of the word." It is perfectly probable and not at all out of the line of possibility that there will be a repetition of the convention of 1875, when the galleries nominated Seymour for governor. He afterwards declining to run and Robinson being selected as the candidate. The reception that will be accorded Senator Hill by the convention will undoubtedly take on a remarkable phase and will be one long to be remembered by every person present and it is probable that he will be nominated by acclamation from the galleries. That he will decline, however, is almost certain and there will have to be a new nomination.

Senator Hill arrived last evening and opened headquarters at Grand Union hotel. From the time of his arrival until the late hours of the night it was besieged by crowds of delegates. To a reporter he said: "I received word that I was to be the temporary chairman of the convention. I know nothing about who is the most prominent candidate and I have no opinion as to who will be the nominee of the convention." Later he was shown the dispatch received by the press about the nomination of Mr. Gaynor and he said laconically: "It seems that the proper thing is to refuse to be a candidate."

The Tammany, braves struck the village yesterday afternoon. Several of their delegates were seen in regard to the placing of Tammany's strength and every man favors William C. Whitney. When asked as to the Flower boom they seemed to be unanimous in their expression of little hope of his retracting his withdrawal.

Ex-Speaker Sulzer said: "William C. Whitney is the man. Senator Hill excepted, he is the man to carry the state this fall. He will make his personal wishes subservient to his party's demands." Tammany delegates will hold a conference and will probably come out as one man for William C. Whitney.

PROCLAMATION TO ELKS.

Grand Exalted Ruler Friday Has Issued a Manifesto to All Lodges.

READING, Pa., Sept. 25.—As a result of a meeting held here yesterday by the grand officers of the Elks, Grand Exalted Ruler William H. Friday, of Brooklyn, N. Y., issued a proclamation to all lodges in the United States reciting the dissension in the order resulting in two grand lodge meetings in 1894 at Jamestown and at Atlantic City. Exalted Ruler Friday says by the decision of the courts, the Jamestown grand lodge has been recognized as the only legal body and that in 1892 all lodges were directed to stop holding secular sessions, picnics, etc., on the Sabbath after January 1, 1893. Certain lodges have refused to obey this order. Mr. Friday suspended the charters of the following lodges: New York, No. 1; Philadelphia, No. 2; Baltimore, No. 7; Boston, No. 10; Washington, No. 15; Denver, Col., No. 17; and Norfolk, No. 38, for holding Sunday meetings, and the Baltimore lodge is suspended for holding a Sunday picnic which members of the lodge attended. The action is severely denounced by Mr. Friday, and he orders that the above lodge be prohibited from holding any more Elks' Seven or more law-abiding members of the above lodge may reorganize, however, upon proper application.

TORTURED TO DEATH.

Many Skeletons With Manacles Attached Found in St. Petersburg.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 25.—A number of skeletons with manacles attached to the arm and leg bones have been found buried close to the surface of the court yard of the custom house here. A similar discovery was made a few years ago at almost the same place, but upon the former occasion instruments of torture were also discovered with the skeletons. It is stated that a secret chancellor of the tyrannical regent Bieren, the favorite of Empress Anna, was tortured to death by the regent. Anna ruled from 1730 to 1795. It is stated that 20,000 victims of Bieren's tyranny perished during those six years.

The greater progress made, the more strenuous would be the effort to weld natural and moral sciences into a harmonious whole. This was the aim of the state in public instruction.

Three great rivers were explored and charts of them made. Very valuable original collections of birds and butterflies were obtained. One of the party, Howard Bucknell, became very ill and one of the others had to remain to take care of him, while the remaining two pursued their investigations. Mr. Bucknell is much improved in health, and all are satisfied with the result of the expedition.

A BAD GANG WIPED OUT.

Arrest of Their Chief Wipes Out the Career of a Bad Crowd.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Chief Haren of the secret service yesterday received a telegram announcing the arrest at Chilton, Mo., of J. B. McCullough, charged with impersonation of the chief of the secret service, forgery, and in attempting to procure the printing of counterfeit United States notes.

Lucien Hubbard was also arrested at Madden, Mo., charged with being a counterfeit. Hubbard was the chief of the Wilson and Holey gang, arrested a few days ago. The grand jury, from which the notes were printed, and $2,400 in bogus notes were captured. The arrest completely wipes out this notorious gang, and all its plans, money and materials have been captured.

Eggs for a Colored Populist.

NEWTON, Kan., Sept. 25.—There was a great stir among the colored population of Newton when it was announced yesterday that J. B. Gibbs, of Kansas City, Kan., a Populist colored man, would speak at the court house. A band of colored men was organized, which was well supplied with eggs. When the speaker appeared to go to the place of speaking he was given such a liberal application of eggs that he was compelled to retire and seek police protection in order to reach his destination.

Desperado Shot by an Officer.

FAYETTE, Mo., Sept. 25.—Bill Brown, a tough and desperate negro man, was fatally shot last night by Deputy Constable J. K. Twyman at Armstrong. The constable had a warrant for Brown's arrest and told him to consider himself arrested. The negro remarked that no man could arrest him and at the same time made motion as if to draw a revolver when Twyman fired. The ball entered his right side and passed through the liver.

ENDED IN A DRAW.

Neither Plimmer Nor Murphy Could Win.

The New Orleans Fight Lasted Twenty-five Rounds.

MURPHY WAS WARY.

His Generalship Alone Kept Him from Defeat.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 25.—Murphy and Plimmer opened the fallistic carnival here last night with twenty-five rounds of hard fighting to a draw. The battle was at the Olympic club before 5,000 people and for a purse of $2,500; $2,000 to the winner and $500 to the loser.

First round.—The work in the first round was very pretty. Plimmer landed several left-handed punches on the head and rights over the heart. Though he missed one of the most vicious cuttings ever seen in the ring here, Plimmer had away the best of the round.

The remaining rounds were largely repetitions of the first. Murphy having the better of it only in the tenth and twelfth. In several rounds Plimmer pounded his man all over the ring, but could not put him out. Murphy was the favorite with the audience and fought gamely all through. When the men shook hands for the windup, in the twenty-fifth, Plimmer's blows seemed to have the most steam. The little Englishman landed some hard body blows with the right and some hard blows with his left. The audience rose in a body to hear the verdict. The referee declared the match a draw and his decision received general approbation. Plimmer had the best of the fighting, but the little Bostonian's gameness and generalship saved him through the required twenty-five rounds.

To-night Jack Everhardt, the local favorite, will give Stanton Abbott a return fight for a purse of $1,500.

The carnival will close with the greatest fight that has taken place in the last two years. Bob Fitzsimmons and Dan Creedon will defend the middle-weight championship of the world.

WERE TWO TORNADOES.

Both Twisters Devastated the Northern Part of Iowa.

FOREST CITY, Iowa, Sept. 25.—Friday night's tornado passed over this section, devastating everything in its path. It came from the southwest and divided south of Buffalo Center, this county, with a larger and more destructive portion going south and east, the other portion northeast. In Eden, this county, many buildings were destroyed and six or eight persons so far reported killed and fifty or more wounded.

In the track of the other portion, which swept with dire destruction through Hancock and Cerro Gordo counties more than a dozen are reported killed and probably 100 wounded.

As an illustration of the power of the cyclone, Dick Gamble's iron pump truck, weighing 100 feet well in the twinkling of an eye and carried a distance of ten rods. Great excitement prevails all along the track of the cyclone, as many children and grown people as well are missing and cannot be found.

An Eyewitness dispatch says: The cyclone which visited this village Friday night struck Laird station, three miles south on the Northwestern, setting the depot across the track, overturning several cars loaded with coal and twisting the wheels from the cars.

HIAWATHA GETS IT.

Pullman Co-Operative Club Will Locate in the Kansas Town.

HIAWATHA, Kan., Sept. 25.—The Pullman Co-Operative club, which has been considering a proposition from Topeka, Lawrence and other Kansas towns for the location of their manufacturing plant, closed a deal with the citizens of Hiawatha yesterday. The first installment of the workmen will be brought from Pullman at once and work on temporary shops will be commenced immediately. Arrangements have been made with the city to use the surplus power from the city water-works until the shops are completed, and the first work done will be to put up improved bicycle on the market. The club consists of about 200 of the most skilled workmen in the Pullman shops, and all will come to Hiawatha just as soon as work can be provided for them. The city has filled up in anticipation of this movement, and not a vacant store building can be had now anywhere. Property owners on business streets are preparing to put up new buildings to supply the demand that now exists for rooms.

SHOT THROUGH THE HEART.

Jim Allen, a Full Blood Choctaw, Executed at Caddo, I. T.

CADDO, Ind. Ter., Sept. 25.—Yesterday at 2 p. m., at the Pashmutha district court ground in Jackson county, thirty miles from here, Jim Allen, a full-blood Choctaw, aged about 24 years, who was convicted in August, was shot by Deputy Sheriff Robert Jackson. Early yesterday morning religious services were held. At first Allen did not seem to be in the least concerned about what was going to happen in a few hours. He admitted his guilt and said he had made peace with his maker and was ready to go. He walked from the jail to the court house, a distance of about five yards, with comparative indifference. He went into the court house, knelt down over his coffin and offered up a farewell prayer; then pulled off his coat and had rolled back the collar of his shirt and had painted a white heart on his breast over his own heart. He died almost instantly after the shot was fired.

DON'T FEAR SMALLPOX.

Dr. Munn Says There Isn't Much Danger From the Leavenworth Epidemic.

Dr. Munn, president of the city health board, said to a JOURNAL reporter today: "As far as the danger of small-pox is concerned, I am of the opinion that there is absolutely no danger whatever of the disease breaking out here. It is a spring disease nearly always, and comes from the East and crowded conditions of living. So in the present excellent sanitary conditions of the city, we have little reason to fear small-pox from Leavenworth. You have noticed that when small-pox breaks out in a city it is always among a class who pay no attention to vaccination."

"The present move to have all school children vaccinated is a good one, and it affords a safeguard against any possible epidemic in small-pox. People sometimes forget that the vaccination will not prove effective for a period longer than seven years."

"In vaccinating the school children we occasionally find a child whose parents object to it. The objection generally comes from some pseudo-scientific fellow who can give no good reason for his objection."

An Old Feud Ended.

NEWPORT, Ark., Sept. 25.—Dr. R. P. Wilson, one of the most prominent men in Arkansas, was shot and almost instantly killed by Robert Simmons, chief of police of Newport, late yesterday afternoon. The tragedy is the culmination of an old feud between the two men. When they met a quarrel ensued, pistols were drawn and Simmons shot Wilson three times through the body. Simmons is in jail.

NO WATER FOR THESE ANIMALS.

Deer, Antelope and Coyotes Who Live in American Desert Places.

Students of natural history have always been puzzled to know whether certain animals can live without water for a long time, says the New York World. In Central and Southern New Mexico there is an immense desert to which the earliest Spanish adventurers gave the name Jornada del Muerto, or Journey to Death. This desert is over 100 miles long and from thirty to seventy miles wide and is entirely waterless. This is known to be a fact as every mile of it has been traversed in the past twenty years. The nearest permanent water to this desert is the Rio Grande, from which it is separated by the lofty range known as the Calvallos mountains, which are almost impassable to man or beast. Previous to 1880 this desert was inhabited by vast herds of antelope. There are some antelope there now, besides coyotes and other animals. From May to September is the rainy season in this region, and the moisture derived from the scanty herbage might be sufficient to sustain life, but during the other eight months there isn't a drop of water obtainable, and the vegetation is as dry as tinder. It is claimed that many wild animals feed in the early morning and thereby obtain an abundance of moisture from the dew which covers the vegetation, but in the elevated region of Jornada there is no sensible precipitation of dew in the dry season.

The most desolate territory in North America, south of Labrador, is the peninsula of Lower California. Cape San Lucas is the extreme southern point, and about ten miles north of this a spur of mountains runs from west to east, or from the Pacific to the Gulf of Lower California, forming as it were, a basin toward the cape. This basin is mostly covered with a dense growth of dwarf trees, growing luxuriantly out of the dazzling white sand. Not a particle of surface water is to be found anywhere in this basin, and, strange as it may seem, this place has deer. The Mexicans living here, when asked where the deer get water, reply that there is none and the deer do not require any. The eastern west coast of Lower California abounds in islands, some of which are a few hundred yards in diameter and others miles in extent, and with few exceptions void of vegetation and utterly waterless. An American who has spent a day, and sometimes two days, on each of these islands, reports having found there the coyote, or wild dog. The only water the thirsty coyote may drink is the salt water of the Pacific. But does he drink it, or does he get along without any drinking water at all? Or are these animals of the Southwest like the camel, which has a second stomach which is used as a reservoir for water, and is filled by the camel before going on long desert journeys and drawn upon for water when needed? It is said that Arabs, knowing this, slay themselves suffering from thirst, slay their camels and appropriate their water supply.

A NARROW ESCAPE!

How it Happened.

The following remarkable event in a lady's life will interest the reader: "For a long time I had a terrible pain at my heart, which disturbed almost incessantly. I had no appetite and could not sleep. I would be compelled to sit up in bed and catch gas from my stomach. I thought every minute would be my last. There was a feeling of oppression about my heart, and I was afraid to draw a full breath. I couldn't wear a room without sitting down and resting; but, thank God, which was my deliverance, I had been treated by doctors without any benefit until I was both discouraged and disgusted. My husband bought me a bottle of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and am happy to say I never regretted it, as I now have a splendid appetite and sleep well. I weighed 135 pounds when I began taking the remedy, and now I weigh 105 lbs. Its effect in my case has been truly marvelous. I fear I cannot say any other medicine I have ever taken or any benefit I ever received from physicians." Mrs. Harry Starr, Colville, Pa., October 12, 1902.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price. $1 per bottle, six bottles $5, express paid. This great discovery by an eminent specialist in heart disease, contains no harmful or dangerous drugs.
